Look up Latest high school billboard is a winner

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Senior High School officials and students are continuing to make great strides with "making their best even better" program.

Recently, the second of five billboards with the school slogan was put up at the five point mark at the corner of Huron River Drive and Goddard Road. The billboards are designed to give the Romulus schools and community a boost of hope for improving the quality of education for local students.

Junior Robert Wazak, who designed the billboard, said it took him a week to come up with the idea.

"In the design, you can see and tell that those are the students but you can't tell who they are or what they are doing. Originally, I had the colors hot pink and blue," Wazak said.

Romulus High School Principal Tom Dolan said school officials voted on the design and color for the billboard after receiving dozens of entries from art students.

The billboards are part of a restructuring program with the high school to help keep students in school. Dolan said what the high school is hoping to do is "promote the teacher as a mediator and the student as a collaborator in the educational process."

"Teachers have always been the ones instructing and giving out information. The students just sit there and take it all in. Now we're trying to get the students more involved in the classroom," Dolan said.

Gannett Outdoor is donating the billboards to the high school. Tom Bugay, manager of community relations for Gannett Outdoor, is a member of the Romulus Partnerships for Education.

Bugay said he received a letter from the school asking Gannett how the business could make an impact on the drop out rate of the high school.

"We found our way to help was to donate billboards. We wanted to give some support to the school," Bugay said.

Bugay said businesses should consider helping schools because the future of the work force needs to be evaluated.

"For young people entering the work force today, it's extremely difficult. A high school education just isn't enough," Bugay said.

Besides the billboards acting as an inspiration for students and teachers to build a better school, there are a number of programs in place which continue to be successful, according to Dolan.

For ninth-graders, there is "school within a school," where there are four classrooms designated in a section of the building. The program offers a learning environment that includes continuity in curriculum and instruction, common teachers, off-campus experiences and a variety of teaching techniques.

The four-hour block provides flexibility, allowing for 45- to 53-minute classes with a study hall or tutoring session.

Other programs for the high school students are:

- Leadership Camp. The idea is to develop student leadership skills. The camp is a three-day experience for 160 students. There are student-elected leaders, class representatives and mediators. Topics discussed are problem-solving, counseling resources, drug awareness, trust/positive relationships and conflict resolution.

- Cross Peer Tutoring. There is an after-school tutoring program designed to teach students how to tutor students who are experiencing difficulty in the content areas. This is a seventh-hour class where students receive a half-credit. Students are assigned to an elementary school to help identify "at-risk" students.

- Student of the Month. This program is to instill academic and behavioral expectations in students. Each instructor selects one student per month who has excelled in class. These students receive positive recognition in the school through the school and local newspapers. Some students will receive a $50 U.S. savings bond.

- Tutoring Classes. They are available to students who are experiencing academic, behavioral or attendance problems. Students are placed in a tutoring class where they receive extra assistance. Students also receive credit for taking the class.

- Adolescent Outlook. This is a semester class taken by all first-semester freshmen.

Voters accept bond proposal

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Winning two of three ballot proposals Tuesday isn't bad, say Romulus Community School officials.

"Obviously, we're very elated," said William Bedell, superintendent of schools. "Romulus residents have taken on a renewal of one of the highest tax brackets of any community for their kids. Hopefully, when we get things started, we'll let residents see what progress we have made."

"In three years we hope to be the most effective school district in the country."

Proposition one, the renewal millage of 37 mills, and proposition two, asking for $45 million to improve the schools, both passed with a hearty approval by voters.

The third proposition, $5.4 million for a swimming pool complex, was voted down.

There were 5,121 voters from Romulus at the polls. About 55 percent of the voters approved proposition one and about 33 percent voted no. Only 12 percent refrained from voting on this ballot issue.

For proposition two, about 46 percent of the voters approved and about 39 percent voted against. Only 15 percent refrained from voting.

It was a close race for the swimming pool proposition. About 49 percent voted against the pool, 35 percent for the pool and 16 percent refrained from voting.

In retrospect, it can't be said Romulus school board officials didn't give enough information about the election to residents.

Among other things, there was a live "call-in program" Oct. 30 on Romulus cable channel 43 for residents to ask questions about the bond proposal. WXYT-AM radio personality Denny McLain was the host.

On Nov. 1, there was a 45-minute technology meeting at Romulus Senior High School for all residents. School officials demonstrated how technology affects every child in the school district.

The first proposition addressed the need for a millage renewal of 37 mills on each $1,000 state equalized valuation on the amount of taxes which can be assessed against all property in the Romulus Community School district.

Proposition one was geared for 10 additional years of general operating funds to pay the daily cost of operating the school district. The costs include, but are not limited to, salaries, teaching supplies, lights, heat, repairs and buses.

Under proposition two school officials were asking for more than $45 million, but none of the additional money would increase local taxes. The extra money would come from a refinancing plan extending current loans the school district owes into 2001.

2 charged with McDonald's robbery

Two Inkster residents were arrested and charged Tuesday with robbing two Romulus McDonald's restaurants Oct. 11 and Oct. 22.

Darryl Otis Rich, 25, was arraigned Thursday before 34th District Court Judge William Szlinis and was charged with one count of armed robbery and one count of felony with a firearm. A $50,000 cash bond was set.

Rich has been charged with the Oct. 22 McDonald's robbery. Romulus police Sgt. Eric Painter said about 10:45 p.m. Rich and another black man entered the McDonald's on Middlebelt Road. Painter said Rich allegedly pointed a gun at employees and announced the robbery.

Painter said Rich and his partner, Donald James Davenport, 35, allegedly took more than $300 in cash. They fled the scene on foot, Painter said.

Witnesses saw Davenport and Rich enter a car. The witnesses later identified the two men in a police lineup, Painter said.

Davenport was also arraigned Thursday before Szlinis. He was charged with one count of armed robbery and a $50,000 cash bond was set. Davenport was charged for both robberies.

Davenport and Rich are now in the Wayne County jail. Painter said Davenport and Rich have an extensive police history of repeating the same robbery offense. Painter said Romulus police have asked county prosecutors to charge the two men with habitual offenses.

Police have not been able to link Rich with the robbery incident on Oct. 11. Painter said police are still looking for more suspects. Officers believe there may have been a third party involved with the robberies.

A Nov. 7 preliminary examination has been set for both Davenport and Rich.

If Davenport and Rich are convicted on all counts, Painter said they could get life in prison.

Kruse named to Who's Who list

Romulus Junior High Band Director Richard Kruse has an ear for making star musicians out of his students.

Kruse has just been named in the 1990 Who's Who of America's Teachers. One of his former students, Tonya Tompkins, nominated Kruse who has been teaching music for more than 25 years and is head of the music department.

"I started my teaching at the University of Michigan for two years. What I like about my work is watching the improvement of the students," Kruse said.

Kruse teaches seventh- and eighth-graders. He said he has one group of students this year that were terrible. With a bit of coaching and patience, Kruse said that group has been much improved.

"All my years of teaching, I've never seen a group improve so much. These students are 12- and 13-year-olds," Kruse said.

Kruse said in order to be nominated for Who's Who, a student with high honors marks must make the recommendation. He taught Tompkins before she went to Aquinas High School.

Kruse's bands have received a number of awards throughout the years. He said his bands received 14 first division ratings in the 1980s.

Kruse wears many other hats. He is the music consultant for the State Art Support Network and State Chairman for the elementary division of the Michigan School Board and Orchestra Association.

When asked if he taught a student musician who made it big in music, Kruse said he taught Glenn Hayes who is now the band director for the University of Whitewater in Wisconsin.

Family problems discussed by commission

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

The Democratic Commission on Families has interviewed business and interest groups around the state to learn what the state legislature can do to help working families find affordable child care for seniors and health care.

The goal of the nine-member commission, which recently completed its final report, was to recommend a cost-savings initiative that would be implemented quickly.

Regarding elderly health care, members toured the Birchwood Care Center, a nursing home offering free day care for the elderly in Marne, Mich., and a vocational technical center in Mt. Clemens.

Members learned that 36 percent of nearly one million uninsured Michigan residents are children, according to state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton), a commission member.

They also learned only 44 percent of nearly one million children younger than 12 in need of day care have access to licensed day care facilities, he added.

The commission recommends the following:

- Continued support of a national child care policy.
- Adopt legislation to create a new state children and family services agency.
- Adopt current legislation to create state-supported intergenerational day care programs.
- Ban discrimination against Medicare recipients, and create a "Caring Program for Children" by Blue Cross/Blue Shield to provide low cost health insurance to children.

One of the most promising ideas is House Bill 6025, which would enable Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan to provide health care for children with little or no premium, according to the commission staff coordinator.

After the election, legislators will discuss eligibility requirements for potential recipients of this low-cost insurance.

Some legislators, including Teola Hunter (D-Detroit), hope to duplicate a similar Blue Cross/Blue Shield program currently in place in western Pennsylvania.

River receives grant

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

The United States Congress recently approved $1 million for the Rouge River cleanup.

Wayne County will use the funds to control pollution from combined sewer overflow discharges in the Rouge River, which winds through a 467-square-mile area. It includes a portion of Detroit and 47 other communities with a population of 1.5 million.

Much of the CSO enters the river through incorrectly hooked sewage pipes, according to Sally Budd, an administrative aide to Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor.

The cleanup project, now in its second year, identifies and corrects problem areas to prevent raw sewage from entering the Rouge River, instead of spending more money on sewage treatment projects.

The state can cut cleanup costs by 20 percent if it follows this plan of attack rather than building retention basins at every CSO, according to Jim Murray, Wayne County Department of Public Works director.

If the computer models and assumptions are correct, the Rouge River could be swimmable and fishable in five to six years at the cost of $500 to $800 million, rather than the $2.5 billion the state has projected for the clean up, Murray said.

Support

Prior to the Tuesday election, employees at Detroit Metropolitan Airport staged a rally to announce their support of the bond sale proposal which would allow for expansion at the airport.

Students win coloring contest

Amber Long, sixth-grader from Romulus Barth Elementary School, said she didn't know a police siren could be so loud.

Long and five other Barth students recently won a McGruff the Crime Dog coloring contest with the prize being a ride in a Romulus police car Friday. After the car ride, the students joined two Romulus police officers for lunch at the Merriman Street Grill.

Harold L. Connon Jr., Barth Elementary principal, said all the elementary students decided to make birthday cards for McGruff since it is his 10th anniversary. Connon said one student from each class was selected for the best coloring job.

The students who won the contest are: first-grader Jessica Cantrell, second-grader Linsey Hoppe, third-grader Donald Slater, fourth-grader Richard Tripp, fifth-grader Amber Long and sixth-grader Amanda Wilks.

Police officer John Smagner ate hot dogs and cheeseburgers with the students as they talked about how neat the ride was in the police car.

Koski picked up the students at Barth Elementary School about 11 a.m. Friday and brought them to the restaurant.

"I liked the ride a lot," Wilks said. "We listened to the police radio and heard the siren."

Koski said the celebration of McGruff was part of the nationwide Crime Prevention Week in October.

Romulus residents lucked out Saturday for the "Vote Yes For Kids" parade.

In sunny weather, more than 100 residents joined the Romulus Community Schools march through the neighborhoods to rally support for the Nov. 6 election.

Neighborhood children decorated their bikes with bright-colored flags and parents designed banners.

Lorraine Wilkerson, wife of school board vice president Ed Wilkerson, said her husband drove the technological float.

"The float was called 'Classroom of Tomorrow.' It was made by the local school employees. The colors were red, white and blue," Wilkerson said.

The float had a big TV with a computer screen and VCR attached to it. There was a doll sitting in the chair in front of the computer to represent the students.

The parade started at 10 a.m. at Romulus High School. A number of school and city officials arrived, including Romulus Schools Superintendent William Bedell and Dan Bales, president of the school board.

As the parade started off in the direction of Cory subdivision, about 15 students from the school band played while cheerleaders rallied the group with pep talks.

"As the parade continued through the individual neighborhoods, kids from each subdivision joined the parade," Wilkerson said.

The parade headed from Cory to Mt. Pleasant and then on to Superior. When the parade reached Merriman, Wilkerson said that's where the largest group of people joined the march.

"The parade didn't finish at the high school until about 3 p.m.," Wilkerson said.

When the parade finally ended, all the volunteers who worked on the float and events for the parade were treated to pizza and pop at Little Caesars.

Police investigate robberies

By MARGO DEWEY

Wayne police last week were investigating a few robberies and one call from a resident who told police someone tried to pass themselves off as an officer with a fake badge.

Last Thursday, police arrested Wayne residents James Berry, 28, and Thomas Campbell, 29, for larceny.

Around 9:30 a.m. Oct. 30, a security officer from the Ford Trucking Plant called police after seeing two male suspects on survey monitors walking south of the Ford property with a tire in each hand.

The security officer saw the men walk to a wooded area near the trucking plant. Police found Berry and Campbell in the wooded area and eight brand new tires.

The two suspects were arraigned Nov. 1 before Wayne 29th District Court Judge Carolyn A. Archbold. Both men stood mute, according to Wayne Deputy Director John Colligan.

Campbell was released on $4,000 cash bond. Berry was issued a $4,000 cash bond but could not post bail. He is in the Wayne County jail.

Both Berry and Campbell were to face a preliminary examination on Nov. 7 before Archbold.

At 11:47 a.m. Nov. 3, police were called to Taft Elementary School on a report of a break-in.

After arrival, police secured the area and heard noises in the school. A short time later, police observed two males running from the building. Officers Dan Juras and Tom Miller chased the two suspects on foot to Garfield Street.

Mark Laich, 17, of Wayne was found hiding in a yard on Hayes Street. Laich was arrested at the scene. Edward Minch, 19, of Wayne entered a home on Madison. The homeowner called the police.

A preliminary examination for Laich and Minch has been set for Nov. 14.

Residents asked to kick up heels

Romulus and Belleville residents are being asked to kick up their heels for a hoedown Nov. 10.

The hoedown will be staged at the Bell Wood Nursing Center between Belleville Road and the Interstate-94 service drive. Bonnie Rarey, assistant coordinator for the event, said she already has laced her dancing shoes.

"The dance will begin at 1 p.m. and will last until 4:30 p.m. We're going to have a DJ and dancers from the MPM Dance Productions Inc. in Romulus," Rarey said.

Ron Kline from Ypsilanti will be the DJ for the afternoon. Rarey said there will be lots of food, including zucchini bread, apple cider and other goodies.

"We already have 10 to 14 loaves of bread that have been donated. I'm going to bake some more. All the residents from Belleville and Romulus are welcome to come," Rarey said.

Rarey said she's going to stir up the hoedown by playing "Celebrate" by Kool and the Gang.

Request denied

Romulus councilmembers on Monday firmly denied requests for entertainment permits to two businesses for topless dancing.

Carolyn McGraw and Robert R. Remer, owners of Wings and Wheels Bar, said they wanted the permit for weekly lingerie shows.

"There's no top being shown. Just arms, legs and lingerie will be shown," Remer said.

P.J.'s Distillery owner Albert Acker said he didn't want the entertainment permit for topless dancing, either. Councilmembers were not happy with Acker, who has not lived up to his promise to complete landscaping and paving of the driveway approaching the establishment.

"He never met those requests by the city building department," Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said.

Building Director David Paul said in December 1987, Acker was given a 60-day temporary certificate of occupancy pending completion of the sidewalk, landscaping and paving.

"Partial landscaping was planted. On Jan. 27, 1989, a second temporary certificate of occupancy was issued pending installation of sidewalks, final paving, final landscaping and final site plan inspection with the understanding the petitioner continue to work on this project," Paul said.

Since that time, Paul said progress has been made with the landscaping, but the work is not yet completed.

Councilmembers also considered a police report from police Chief Fred Dansby. Dansby recommended the council deny the permits because of the wide range of entertainment the permit would offer.

"A permit of this type would allow a licensee to offer a wide range of entertainment, including but not limited to, topless dancing, exhibitions such as mud-wrestling and lingerie shows," Dansby said.

Dansby said granting new entertainment permits to Class C establishments such as Wings and Wheels Bar would not be in the best interest of the city or the community.

College Day. Twice during the course of the school year, Romulus juniors have the opportunity to experience "college day." They spend one day in the fall at Eastern Michigan University and one day in the spring at Wayne County Community College. This class helps students become acquainted with the school facility and school policies, the need for curriculum planning and school policy, the need for study skills development, the techniques of decision-making and problem-solving.

Family problems are discussed

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

The Democratic Commission on Families has interviewed business and interest groups around the state to learn what the state legislature can do to help working families find affordable child care for seniors and health care.

The goal of the nine-member commission, which recently completed its final report, was to recommend a cost-savings initiative that would be implemented quickly.

Regarding elderly health care, members toured the Birchwood Care Center, a nursing home offering free day care for the elderly in Marne, Mich., and a vocational technical center in Mt. Clemens.

Members learned that 36 percent of nearly one million uninsured Michigan residents are children, according to state Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton), a commission member.

They also learned only 44 percent of nearly one million children younger than 12 in need of day care have access to licensed day care facilities, he added.

The commission recommends the following:

- Continued support of a national child care policy.
- Adopt legislation to create a new state children and family services agency.
- Adopt current legislation to create state-supported intergenerational day care programs.

River cleanup receives grant

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

The United States Congress recently approved $1 million for the Rouge River cleanup.

Wayne County will use the funds to control pollution from combined sewer overflow discharges in the Rouge River, which winds through a 467-square-mile area. It includes a portion of Detroit and 47 other communities with a population of 1.5 million.

Much of the CSO enters the river through incorrectly hooked sewage pipes, according to Sally Budd, an administrative aide to Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor.

The cleanup project, now in its second year, identifies and corrects problem areas to prevent raw sewage from entering the Rouge River, instead of spending more money on sewage treatment projects.

The state can cut cleanup costs by 20 percent if it follows this plan of attack rather than building retention basins at every CSO, according to Jim Murray, Wayne County Department of Public Works director.

If the computer models and assumptions are correct, the Rouge River could be swimmable and fishable in five to six years at the cost of $500 to $800 million, rather than the $2.5 billion the state has projected for the clean up, Murray said.

County workers will also examine storm sewer drainage and run-off from surface oil on parking lots, which enters the river after a rainfall.

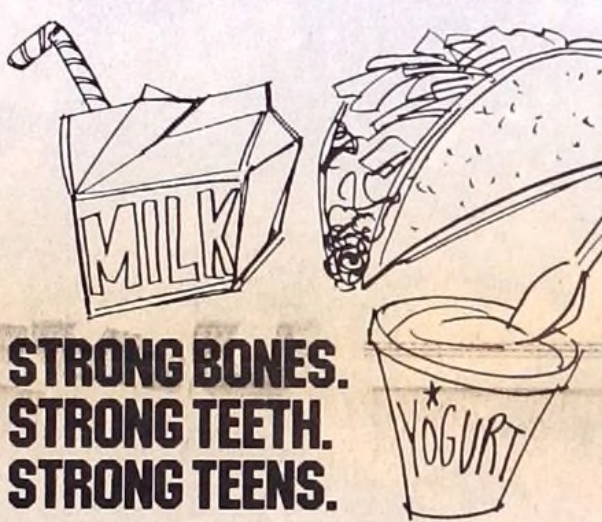

"Communities in the area understand the cleanup carries a high price tag, but they know the present condition of the river is deplorable," Murray said. "The cleanup must be done in an economical fashion."

From December 1988 to November 1989, the Department of Public Works of Wayne County tested 215 sewage facilities in Romulus, Garden City, Dearborn Heights, Westland, Wayne, Inkster, Livonia and other neighboring communities.

Showing support

Prior to the Tuesday election, employees at Detroit Metropolitan Airport spoke out in favor of passage of the bond sale proposal to allow for expansion at the airport. Judy Derey (above), a flight attendant for Northwest Airlines, was one of several airport employees expressing their support for the proposal which was approved.

Despite the growing awareness of calcium's importance throughout life, many teens consume calcium at levels well below the RDA (Recommended Dietary Allowance) of 1,200 mg per day. The 1,200 mg RDA for calcium for teens and young adults is equivalent to four 8-ounce glasses (approximately 300 mg/glass) of milk.

It was a photo finish in the race for the governor's seat.

In an election which will no doubt prompt a recount, Republican challenger John Engler claimed the governor's race with the lieutenant governor-elect Connie Binsfield at his side.

It was the first time since 1962 that an incumbent governor in Michigan was defeated by his challenger.

Engler claimed victory at approximately 6 a.m. with Blanchard in the lead by 500 votes with 97 percent of the precincts reporting.

"Michigan voted for a change, they wanted a better return on their tax dollar," Engler said.

By 6:45 a.m. with another two percent of the precinct reporting, Engler had moved ahead by 1,723 votes. Republican vote counters predicted a 7,000 margin for Engler, and were nearly right.

At 9:45 a.m. the Associated Press declared Engler the victor.

Engler made several appearances in Lansing after the polls closed Tuesday. He spoke to television and radio reporters and mingled with his supporters. At approximately 2:30 a.m. he turned in for some rest.

Blanchard presented an upbeat pre-victory speech at the International Center in Greektown, downtown Detroit, at approximately 9 p.m. and did not return for a public appearance again until 4 a.m. Wednesday morning. The governor then returned to his room at a nearby hotel, neither claiming victory or conceding.

Blanchard's defeat was blamed on: the tax issue, the manner in which Martha Griffiths was dumped, and failure of Coleman Young to deliver the predominantly Democratic vote of Detroit.

Engler, 42, is a single Mt. Pleasant native. He has a law degree from Cooley Law School, and has served as Michigan State Senate Majority Leader since 1984.

He served in the state House of Representatives from 1971 to 1978, and has spent three terms altogether in the state Senate.

Engler campaigned on a platform of education and taxes, promising property tax cuts for Michigan residents and more money for education.

He opposes abortion, while Blanchard has openly supported the pro-choice effort.

Engler will assume the position of governor in January.

While the governor's race shocked many, the race for U.S. Senator could not have been more predictable.

Shortly after the polls closed, U.S. Sen. Carl Levin claimed victory over Republican challenger Bill Schuette.

Levin will return to Washington for his third term.

He campaigned on a platform of fair trade, political reform and taxes.

Levin, 56, is married and has three grown children. He lives in Royal Oak, and once served on the Detroit City Council.

Incumbents retain positions locally

In an predictable race, incumbent Wayne County Commissioners Milton Mack and Kay Beard will retain their seats, as will all other state incumbents, excluding governor.

A national push to "throw out the incumbents" failed in Michigan as voters cast ballots for the "known" rather than the "unknown".

Political analysts agree that voters were not mad enough about the current situation to vote, and therefore the "dump the rascals" campaign didn't work.

Overall, the Democrats had a winning night in the western Wayne County region.

Beard, of Inkster, will continue to represent her district on the county commission as she fights for veterans rights, among other issues.

Mack, of Wayne, also won reelection on a platform of environmental concerns and equal representation for the suburbs.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara had an easy victory as he was unopposed this time around. McNamara is believed to be prepared to make new political moves in the next few years.

Attorney General Frank Kelley won again to make him the longest-serving officeholder in Michigan. Kelley, 65, was first elected in 1962.

In a similar race, Secretary of State Richard Austin also produced a stunning victory. Austin, 77, has served since 1970.

Local firefighter places new priority on education

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

Michael Reddy puts fires out for a living.

As a recent school board appointee, Reddy will be putting out a different kind of fire. He will try and help extinguish the financial fire raging throughout the Wayne-Westland School District.

Reddy, a longtime area resident, was appointed to the board to fill the vacancy left by Kenneth Barnhill.

"It's time for me to give something back to the community," said Reddy, a fire battalion chief of the Westland Fire Department and a firefighter for 14 years.

His roots in the community are strong.

A 1961 graduate of Wayne Memorial High School, Reddy earned an associate's degree from Detroit College of Business. He is a few credits shy of earning a bachelor's degree in public safety from Eastern Michigan University.

Reddy proudly speaks about his children and the Wayne-Westland Schools that he and his children attended.

"I think a good school district helps parents raise their children to be responsible adults," he said. "We have many tremendous teachers in this district."

Throughout his career, he has learned many valuable lessons which he will apply to his work on the school board.

As fire battalion chief, he oversees the work of 20 firefighters at four stations during his shift.

Michael Reddy

"I have no special interests or political aspirations. My interest is the education of the children."

— Michael Reddy
school board member

Reddy describes himself as a "good listener" and "people person."

He hopes these qualities will serve him well in the coming months, as he and other school board members help guide the future of the financially troubled district.

"I'll do my homework, and make a decision based on giving a quality education for our children," he said. "I have no special interests or political aspirations. My interest is the education of the children."

Right now, the district is negotiating eight union contracts.

"We all pay for uneducated children, through prisons or rehabilitation," he said. "We have a responsibility of educating youth in the community."

He also acknowledges a large percentage of residents in the district don't have children or no longer have children in the school system, but says it's better to pay in a positive way.

As a Westland firefighter, his proudest moment was when the Westland fire safety house opened nearly three years ago.

Firefighters in the program train children in the fourth through sixth grades how to survive a fire at the house behind the main fire station on Ford Road.

Firefighters who teach an in-class lesson before drilling students in a fire simulation receive plenty of cooperation from the Wayne-Westland School District, and it doesn't cost the district a penny.

In another recent accomplishment, Gov. James Blanchard named Reddy to the state fire safety board. The board, which was created by the state legislature, concentrates on the promulgation of fire safety rules.

His three-year term on the fire safety board won't interrupt his work on the school board because it meets only twice a month, Reddy said.

Voters approve airport proposal

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

At press time noon Wednesday, Wayne County residents were in heavy favor of the Detroit Metropolitan Airport modernization ballot proposal with about 77 percent of votes counted.

According to the count, about 186,000 residents voted yes, while 89,000 said no.

Romulus residents voted for the bond issue with 52 percent in favor and 35 percent against. About 13 percent of Romulus resident refrained from voting on the issue.

Wayne County officials were asking residents for approval to sell one or more series of Subordinate Lien Airport Revenue Bonds, not to exceed $100 million, to pay part of the modernizing cost.

Bonds will be paid by the airlines which means no tax increase for Wayne County residents.

The $100 million will be used for improvements to the parking area, including building a new 3,200-space parking structure, flood control, a fourth north-south runway, construction of anti-noise berms and opening of a noise-control office.

The modernization of the airport is expected to provide 50,000 jobs and $2 billion to the communities surrounding the airport.

County officials expect changes to take place by next spring. One of the changes will include a new fleet of 757 jets. The older ones will become obsolete, officials say.

Opinion

Inkster doesn't need any more negatives

Last week Inkster city officials listened to a presentation by the Michigan Hospital Association which included a proposal to construct an incinerator in that community.

The incinerator would be used to burn medical wastes. Inkster is crying out for development, a tax base, and yet will city officials stoop so low?

The city already has one incinerator. It has done its part in taking the most undesirable forms of development - strip joints, pornography stores, etc.

There are a few business people prepared to sink some money into their businesses - the new Side Pocket Lounge is one example.

These businesses will only be harmed by the continued acceptance of negative development in Inkster.

Worse yet, if the hospital association was to acquire the property and build the incinerator, they would not be required to pay the same taxes as other businesses.

Now, what purpose would this development serve? It would not better the community. It will not be attractive. It will not generate great revenue. It will not attract visitors to Inkster.

So, we urge city councilmembers to fight this particular attempt to develop Inkster property for yet another negative purpose.

Give the city a break and hold out for something better.

Hiding behind a new name

Once again, the Wayne City Council finds themselves at the center of a recall campaign.

The first recall attempt was scuttled due to inappropriate language on the petitions.

Now, the petitions have changed, but the players behind the game are the same.

Despite early attempts to withhold the identity of the "new organization" seeking a recall of the city council, it has more recently been revealed that they are the same people who were behind the first recall attempt.

Why were they so quiet about the first attempt?

Perhaps it was because the failed first attempt may have triggered more discontent with the protesters than it did with the city council.

Perhaps they do not want to be associated with the first attempt even though they were at its helm.

Once again, we must go on the record as saying the Wayne City Council does not deserve such horrid treatment.

None of its members have been found guilty of any crime, there is no evidence to that effect. They are not the best city council. They are not perfect. By the same token, they are not the worst and they are working to better the city.

Many times we have taken up "arms" against the Wayne City Council. We have had our share of disagreements, but we have never found them to be so disagreeable as to be recalled.

So, let's change the speed here, and work together.

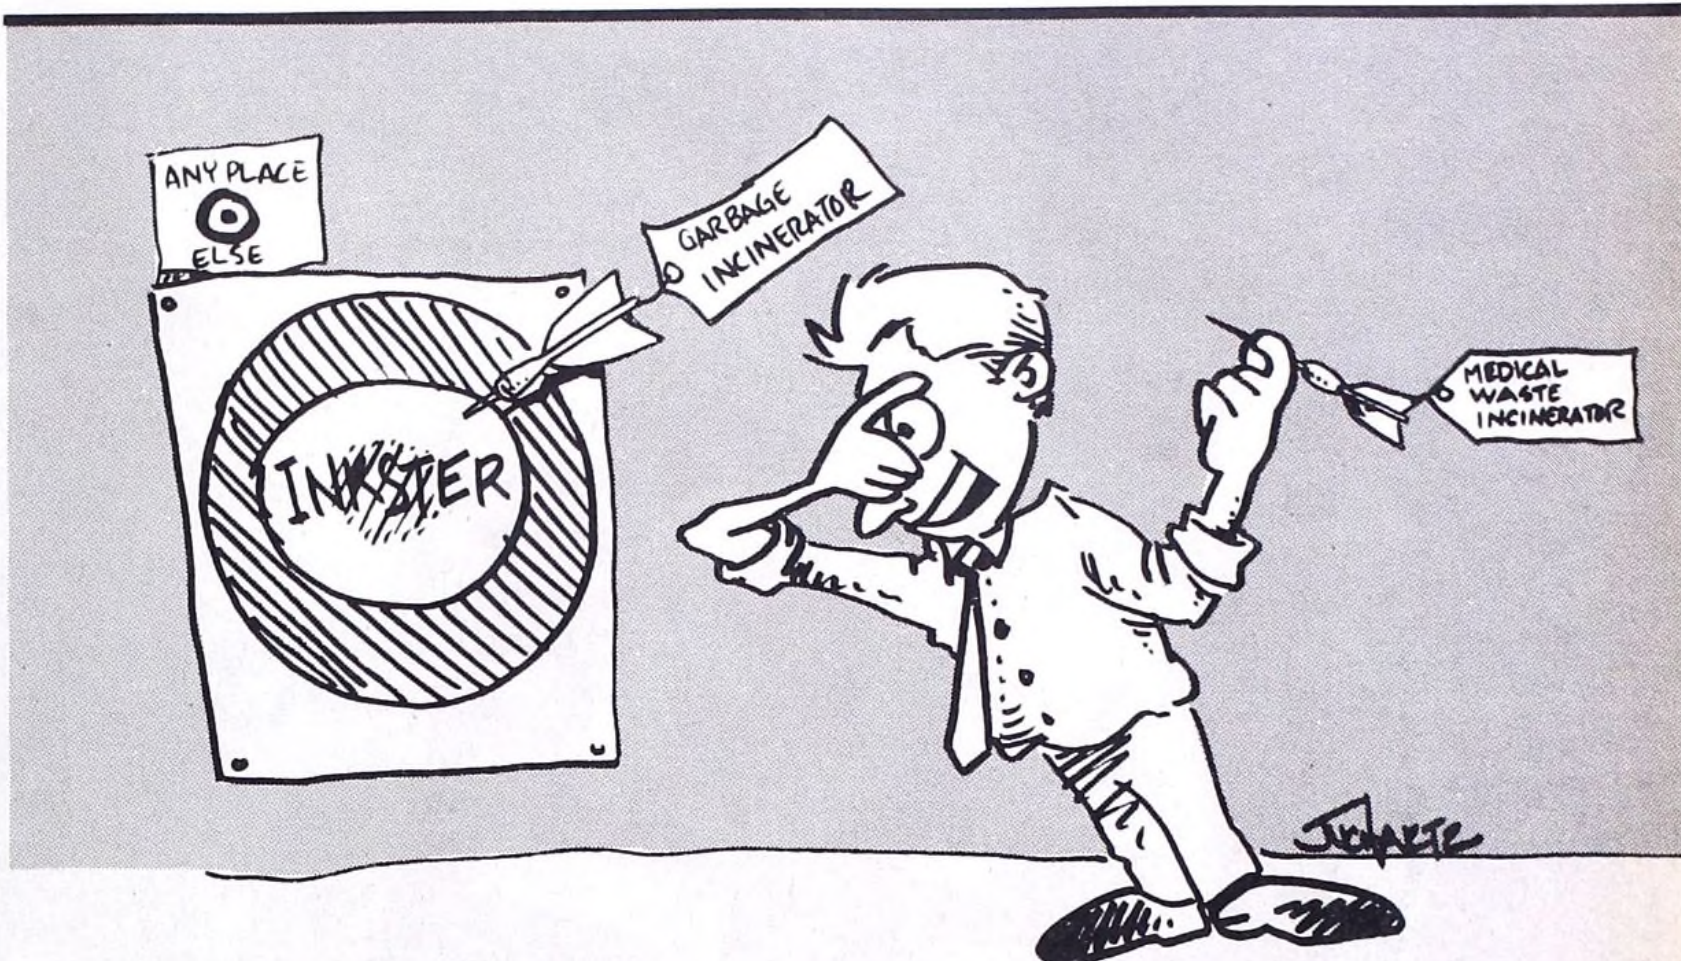

We should have, we would have

So sure were we of the victory of Congressman William D. Ford Tuesday, that we neglected to endorse him in our Sunday edition.

He is without a doubt deserving of our endorsement.

We have failed to pledge our support to him before the election, but we will support him in his new term of office.

The residents of his district can look forward to another term of fair representation from a fine legislator.

Editorial is disturbing

Both your editorial, "District Should Stand Its Ground," and demeaning cartoon say much about teachers hurting kids. As a Wayne-Westland teacher, I find this extremely disturbing.

Let me instead tell you about some things that really do hurt kids. Often it is only the teachers' voices that can be heard speaking up for these issues.

Teachers speak up for lowering class size. Thirty-two students in a class hurts kids.

Teachers speak up for more social work and psychological support for children suffering from the effects of divorce, substance abuse in the home, or other emotional problems. Only one social worker or psychologist for several schools hurts kids.

Teachers speak up for and create substance abuse programs. Not being educated about the horror of drugs hurts kids.

Teachers speak up for innovative programs. Outdated textbooks, materials and teaching strategies hurt kids.

Teachers speak up for, organize and run a wide array of extracurricular activities. Not having anything constructive to do after school hurts kids.

Teachers speak up for parental involvement in their child's education. Staring at a television for hours hurts kids.

Most importantly, teachers speak up for the importance of a quality school district which offers a full program for all children. A school district which offers less than this, as the Wayne-Westland district now does, hurts kids.

As you can see, Wayne-Westland teachers do not speak up about salary raises alone. We care about the children in this community. We don't hurt them.

As a taxpayer, teacher and parent in this district, I was more than willing to pay about 60 cents a day to help my own children and all the children in this community. It is so unfortunate that the majority of people were not. Perhaps members of the so-called Citizens for Education Committee, who fought so hard for the defeat of the millage, should have been shown hitting the child in the cartoon, rather than showing a teacher performing such a dirty deed.

Pamela Koos
Wayne

(Editor's note: Amen. We also supported the millage, and would do so again if asked.)

Ties that bind are too mixed

As a taxpayer in the Wayne-Westland school district, I am becoming less confident in our school board and their decisions.

After attending the meeting in which the board interviewed and made a decision to fill the vacancy previously held by Ken Barnhill, I left having the feeling the decision had been made prior to the public interviews. Why does it appear the school board and the city of Westland are so intermingled? I am sure there are many qualified residents and potential board members without ties to the city.

Linda Pratt was questioned by a board member about actions of her husband. Mr. Pratt was not seeking the position. This action and its unprofessionalism and lack of respect for Mrs. Pratt was uncalled for. The president's inability to prevent this line of questioning demonstrated to me a lack of leadership.

Since school board members are elected by the taxpayers, they should represent all the citizens of the Wayne-Westland district. The people deserve to have a board that represents the citizens who elected them and not a "team player." The only team that should be represented is a "Wayne-Westland residents' team."

As a concerned parent, taxpayer and voter, I feel as though the only way to resolve the district's problems is to work within the system and not re-elect those members who do not represent the citizens.

All editorials should be signed

It's my thought that all should sign their letters including the editorial writers!

• Your editorial Oct. 25, 1990 "District should stand its ground" was the most biased, sarcastic and misleading I have read in a long time.

• I quote, "Teachers work nine months a year" so what? They only get paid for nine months a year.

Again "they have good insurance." The bargaining committee wants to take that away from them.

• Also "they work seven to eight hours a day at most." Have you ever tried to manage 30 kids for one hour, much less seven or eight?

• In your opinion teachers don't have a leg to stand on! Criticism without a solution gains nothing.

• Let's have both sides of a problem before you sound off.

Robichaud nips Lutheran North 19-13

Wheatley will be dressed

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Tyrone Wheatley will be dressed and ready to play Saturday against Marine City, according to Robichaud coach Bob Yauck.

"Right now, we're taking this on a day-to-day basis," Yauck said. "He definitely will be dressed and on the sidelines, but will he play? I can't answer that question at this time."

The loss of Wheatley, one of the best high school athletes in the nation, would diminish the chances of Robichaud surviving the regional playoffs.

Wheatley, a 6-2, 210-pound 'one-man-team' was injured in the preregional game against Lutheran North. He suffered a possible broken wrist in his right hand.

Wheatley can handle the quarterback slot and is a productive tailback. He also does the kicking and plays in the Robichaud secondary on defense.

One of the fastest sprinters in Michigan - he won four gold medals at the state track and field championships last spring - the 18-year-old senior is being recruited by almost every blue-chip college and university in the country.

Wheatley scored the first touchdown against North and booted the extra point to stake the Bulldogs to an early 7-0 lead. However, on the second play of the second quarter as he zeroed in to tackle a North ball-carrier, he fell on his hand and injured his wrist.

Wheatley was rushed to an area hospital and didn't return to the game.

Robichaud managed to eke out a 19-13 victory over North in overtime. The victory qualified the Bulldogs for the Class BB regional championship. The championship will be decided at 1:30 p.m. Saturday when Marine City invades Robichaud Stadium.

Robichaud will enter the regional with a 9-1 record; Marine City, after beating Riverview 34-21 in their pre-regional game, is 8-2 on the year.

Wheatley has rewritten almost all the football records at Robichaud High School. He has the single-game rushing record at 344 yards; scored 197 points and 28 touchdowns this season. He also has carried the ball for 1,391 yards in his 10 games this year.

What thoughts crossed Yauck's mind after Wheatley was rushed to the hospital?

"Well, I said to myself, an 8-2 season isn't that bad."

And in the locker room, Yauck urged his team to "win this one for Wheatley."

They did.

Here is the Stat Sheet on the Class BB regional football playoffs between Robichaud and Marine City:

Where: The game will be played at Robichaud High School, 3601 Janet, Dearborn Heights (Telephone 565-1900).

When: Kickoff at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

At Stake: Regional title and a berth in the Class BB Semifinal game Saturday. The winner will play the winner of the Monroe Catholic Central-Montrose game.

Players to Watch: Robichaud quarterback Andrew Parham - Can he lead the Bulldogs to victory without the services of all-state and record-setting tailback Tyrone Wheatley, who has a wrist injury? Marine City is led by quarterback Rob Tenyer, who is a triple threat. Running back John Griifor has rushed for 815 yards and 15 TDs on 116 attempts. And Jim Heaslip has 833 yards on 107 tries.

Coaching: Robichaud Bob Yauck is in his 21st year as head coach at Robichaud. His teams have won seven Sub-

The football season at Robichaud on Saturday was placed on hold early in the second quarter when running back Tyrone Wheatley (above) suffered a possible broken wrist and was rushed to the hospital. The Bulldogs rallied behind quarterback Andrew Parham (3), who returned one interception for a touchdown and passed for another to lead his team to a 19-13 overtime victory against Lutheran North. urban Athletic Championships, and this is his second appearance in post-season playoff competition. Yauck's opponent, Bob Staskiewicz, is in his fourth year as head coach at Marine City. His team shared the St. Clair Area Conference championship with Imlay City and Marysville. He has coached football for 14 years.

Comments: "It's obviously a big game for both of us. Robichaud is a great football team, with great athletes" - Staskiewicz.

"Marine City is very creative and has a quarterback that can hurt you in a lot of ways. Their tailback also is quick. This will be another great game" - Yauck.

Parham's TD pass breaks deadlock

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Robichaud was forced to beat Lutheran North the hard way. Without star Tyrone Wheatley.

In overtime.

However, what counts is that the Bulldogs of Robichaud did edge their Class BB pre-regional opponents, 19-13, in the extra period and qualified to play Marine City this Saturday for the regional championship.

The regional champ will advance to the semifinals to meet the winner of the Monroe Catholic Central-Montrose game. The site for the matchup will be announced at a later date.

"If they proved anything Saturday, they proved that they are not a 'one-man-team' as the newspapers would make readers believe," said Robichaud coach Bob Yauck, clearing the sweat from his brows.

Yauck's season almost came to an end Saturday on the home field when running back Tyrone Wheatley suffered an injury which forced him off the field and into an area hospital. The injury occurred on the second play of the second quarter with Robichaud leading 7-0. He suffered a possible broken wrist.

Yauck said Wheatley will be dressed and may play against Marine City.

It was Wheatley who put the Bulldogs on the scoreboard against North. He scored on an off-tackle play with 6:10 in the first period, then kicked the extra point. The TD capped a nine-play midfield drive, and the senior tailback was responsible for most of the yardage in that series.

However, Lutheran North responded with the tying points as quarterback Matt Wrangler picked the Bulldog secondary apart. With 8:31 on the clock and Wheatley on his way to the hospital, Wrangler used all of seven plays and a 6-yard strike to slotback John Ball to get his team on the scoreboard. Wrangler also kicked the extra point.

Wangler, who connected on 19 of 34 passes, paid deeply for a third-quarter mistake. A misguided Wangler missile found its way into the hands of Parham, who raced 64 yards into the North end zone for the tie-breaking touchdown. The Robichaud QB elected to go for the two-point conversion and missed.

Nonetheless, the Bulldogs had a 16-7 lead to protect with less than four minutes to play in the third quarter.

But Wrangler came right back with three short passes and set up the equalizer on an 18-yard toss to split end Jim Roland, which finished off a 61-yard drive.

North failed to capitalize on the conversion.

Neither team managed to score in the final quarter, forcing the decision to an extra period.

Robichaud won the toss and elected to go on defense. Wrangler again selected the air routes in hopes of penetrating the Bulldog goal line. On his third attempt, however, Parham again stepped in front of a pass and intercepted.

Robichaud took possession, and on the third play of what proved to be the final series, Parham hooked up with tight end Greg Murphy on a 6-yard touchdown pass that settled the issue.

"It was a bootleg play," Yauck explained, "and the kids pulled it off beautifully."

Yauck didn't hesitate to use the superlatives in describing his team and the victory.

"These kids showed plenty of character and, after losing their leader, they could have fallen apart. They didn't. It showed their character."

"They played a good game against an excellent team," Yauck added.

Although he played a little more than a quarter, Wheatley was the leading rusher. In his seven attempts, he rushed for 43 yards and one TD. Along with the game-winning TD toss and the interception he turned into a touchdown, Parham also contributed seven completions in 13 attempts for 110 yards. John Irwin had 59 yards on 12 rushes.

On defense, Ernie Baskins, middle linebacker Sonny Cooper, Gill Murkey and Parham stood out.

Robichaud now awaits Marine City, which survived its pre-regional against Riverview. The two regional qualifiers will meet 1:30 p.m. on Saturday to determine the regional championship.

The regional winner advances to the semifinals which will be determined a week from Saturday.

Belleville runner places 7th in state

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville has an all-state distance runner.

Anne Gray finished seventh Saturday in the Class A state cross country championships to earn the coveted all-state designation. The top 10 runners are automatically named to the mythical team.

Gray covered the treacherous 5-kilometer layout on the University of Michigan golf course in 19:46. She was the seventh runner in the pack to cross the finish line.

Teammate Camellita Brown finished 25th. She was clocked in at 20:57.

"The course was treacherous," said Belleville coach Sam Vickey, who rounded out

The Tigers posted a perfect 9-0 dual meet record this season thanks to the efforts of Jennifer Woodington (seated from left) and Taira Jared. Kneeling are Valerie Cardinal, Keona Gibbon, Dorcia Thomas, Anne Gray, Christine Wilson, Clara Blackwell and Camellita Martell. Third row are Jettie Sweeney, Tomoko Akamatso, Angie Booth, Margaret Atchley, Rachel Hunter, Kelly Wauer, Jill Medley, Amy Fisher and Jennifer Vandecar. ANP photo by Werner Siocum/staff photographer his second season as head coach. "It contained a lot of hills and the ups-and-downs took their toll."

"But I have to say this - I am awfully proud of my runners. They did one heck of a job." Because Belleville didn't qualify out of the regional as a team, Gray and Martell competed in the individual competition. The top 10 runners, excluding runners from the teams finishing first, second, and third at the regionals, qualified for the state finals.

Holly won the state championship in the women's team division. The state champs finished with 146 points; Ann Arbor Pioneer was second (152), while Milford was third (153).

In the individual race, Molly Lori of East Kentwood toured the course in 18:54 to beat Amy Doucette of Warren Cousino to the wire. Doucette's silver medal-winning performance was a 19:14.

Gray trailed Jennifer Ray (Walled Lake Western), Renea Bluekamp (Holland West Ottawa), Rebecca Trachsel (Holland West Ottawa), and Elke Thompson (Royal Oak Dondero) over the finish line.

In the men's division, Belleville had the 17th best runner in the top individual finishers in Jason Kidwell.

Kidwell finished the course in 16:53. The winner, John Cowan, of Birmingham Brother Rice, was clocked in 15:39.2.

The state championships brought the curtains down on the 1990 season.

Powerlifting

Belleville athlete wins national title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

National record-holder Cyril J. Batten has retained his national American Powerlifting Association title.

Batten, a Belleville resident, dominated the national powerlifting competitions in the 110 kilogram class, competing in a national invitational last month in Bellows Falls, Vermont.

En route to the national title, Batten also established four United States APA records and two World Powerlifting Association marks.

During the past five years, the self-employed Batten has set a total of 12 World Powerlifting Masters records and piled up an incredible 31 American and National records.

The national championship victory will give the local lifter a berth on the U.S. team which will compete in the World Masters championships in March 1991 in Montreal, Canada.

Batten is a self-employed engineer who designs, builds and manufactures engines. His current projects include designing a racing engine to exceed the world record for piston-powered automobiles.

Trenton favored to repeat

as conference swim champ

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Undefeated Trenton is favored to retain the Wolverine 'A' Conference women's swimming title when league affiliates converge on Wayne Memorial Friday night.

Wayne is the host school for the 1990 championships, which actually began Tuesday night with the preliminaries in swimming and diving events.

"They (Trenton) have a phenomenal team and program over there," Belleville Coach Matt Kirschner said. "I don't see anyone upsetting them."

Kirschner said he would be satisfied if his club came away in third place.

"I have to be realistic with the unexpected loss of a couple of key swimmers and the lack of experience, I feel if we can hold down third place, we will have accomplished our goal."

The Tigers will take a 5-2 record to the conference meet.

Kirschner sees Monroe sandwiched between the champ and his team in the race for the title.

"From there, it's a wide-open race," he added.

Belleville has a blue-chip swimmer and a potential event-winner in Kristin Curtis, who will be the Tigers' hope for a medal in the 100-yard butterfly. She has posted a 1:09 in the event, which is three-tenths of a second off the state-qualifying time.

"I feel Kristin has a good shot at a medal in the event," Kirschner said. "It should be an interesting race."

"However, our overall lack of depth is going to hurt us. As I said, I will be happy if we can finish behind Trenton and Monroe."

The finals will begin at 6 p.m.

Belleville seeks gymnastics coach

Belleville High is in the market for a qualified women's varsity gymnastics coach.

"The season will begin in January," said Michael Colletta, Belleville High athletic director. "So we need a person aboard as soon as possible."

Colletta said practice sessions will begin sometime after Thanksgiving recess.

"We're also interviewing for an assistant coach in that sport," he said.

Prospective candidates are urged to telephone the Belleville High Athletic Department at 697-0016 during regular school hours.

League finale

Champ is win away from perfection

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Inkster is one basketball victory away from perfection in the Suburban Athletic Conference.

With a 43-22 victory over Highland Park last week, Coach Dwight Hotchkiss and the Vikings sealed the 1990 SAC women's cage title. Tonight, the champs will take their class act to Willow Run and a victory over the Flyers will give them their first undefeated women's league basketball season.

Hotchkiss, however, warns Willow Run will not be "easy pickings."

"Willow Run always play us tough over there," he said. "You can bet they would give anything to tarnish our record."

The Vikings have compiled a 17-1 overall record, the best in the history of the school. They are 9-0 in the league. Their record has earned them a fifth-place ranking in the Class B state polls.

Next week, Inkster will begin its bid for a Class B district championship.

Snowbirds head south

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

Birds aren't the only ones heading south for the winter. So are many senior citizens, according to the Recreation Vehicle Association in Reston, Va.

"Most of the snowbirds are retirees who have made their RVs their winter home on the road. With living, dining, sleeping and bathroom facilities right on board, RVs combine transportation and accommodations for an increasing number of the 55-and-over set, whose ownership rate grew by 50 percent since 1980," said Philip L. Ingrassia, public relations manager for RVIA.

Many of the snowbirds from all around the country are heading to Arizona, California, Nevada, Texas, Florida and other warm states across the south and southwest, according to Ingrassia.

"It's a phenomenon that becomes more and more common each year," he said. "Retired people head down to the southwest for extended vacations."

The migration usually starts in late October, with seniors arriving before the bad weather arrives, and staying until after Easter.

The snowbirds' lifestyle was the subject of a recent study conducted at Arizona State University. The results concluded 92 percent of the snowbirds are between the ages of 50 and 79 years old and spend four to six months in the state they travel to, 64 percent have a permanent residence in one of the Northern states or in Canada.

The study also said two-thirds of the snowbirds return to the same state.

"Given the nation's changing age distribution, the trend toward early retirement, improved health conditions and the greater affluence of the elderly population, this alternative lifestyle is here to stay and the number of snowbirds is likely to grow in the future," said Timothy Hogan, business researcher at ASU.

"Snowbirds save thousands of dollars on lodging over an extended winter break. RV Parks across the South and Southwest provide comfortable settings for soaking up the sun, playing golf and socializing," Ingrassia said.

RVs range in price from $5,000 to $40,000.

"There are two types: the conventional type with the driver sitting inside the trailer and the pop-up type, which is like a tent folded down into the trailer that is opened at the camp site," he said.

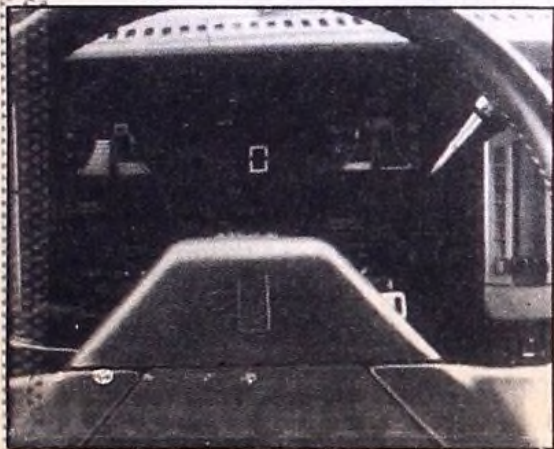

The high prices of gasoline could make traveling in a motor home more expensive this season.

"The amount of gas used will depend on the size and weight," Ingrassia said. "Then the owner has to decide if it is feasible to drive the motor home or to pay for lodging for the entire time they are down south."

Invasion spurs gas price jump

The average price for a gallon of self-serve unleaded gasoline in Michigan increased 31 percent since the Aug. 2 Iraqi invasion of Kuwait. Similar increases were reported for other grades of self-serve and full-serve unleaded, leaded and diesel fuels.

The 1990 Oldsmobile Bravada may not qualify as a true recreational vehicle, but is a comfortable traveling vehicle for the family.

SIGMUND'S MUTUAL TRUST PLAN WITH TRUE 0 DOWN!

trust (trust) n. 1. Firm reliance; confident belief; faith. 2. The person or thing in which confidence is placed. 3. Custody; care. 4. One committed into the care of another; charge. 5. The condition and resulting obligation of having confidence placed in one. 6. Reliance on something in the future; hope.

BUT WE ALREADY KNEW THIS.

WHY SHOULD A CAR DEALER ASK FOR YOUR TRUST AND THEN ASK YOU FOR A SECURITY DEPOSIT WHEN YOU LEASE A NEW AUTOMOBILE OR TRUCK?

WE COULD NOT THINK OF AN ANSWER EITHER.

INTRODUCING SIGMUND'S MUTUAL TRUST PLAN. ITS SIMPLE!
